POSITIVITY DOESN'T END HERE

Although I have been limiting my social engagements, I recently had the opportunity to have a conversation with a Recreation and Parks Team Member at the new Aviary Recreation Center. The team member's enthusiasm for their position and role in our organization reminded me, as I am sure it would you, of all those feelings I have when starting a new job — the excitement, the sense of challenge and even of exploration that are in full force. In speaking with this team member, I couldn't help but feel the transfer of their positivity to myself, and I left the encounter energized from this exchange.

This brings me to the point. If a single, brief conversation can infuse such energy, how much positivity can we bring to others during the course of our work day? It is easy to get bogged down in the routine day to day "stuff", such that we lose our sense of excitement and energy. We can forget to bring that "first day" excitement and energy as we interact daily with other team members and our customers. In doing so, we miss an amazing opportunity to "pass on positivity", especially if they are experiencing The Villages for the first time. Did you know that starting off your day with just one positive thought can set off a chain of positive experiences throughout the rest of the day? So next time you are having a rough day, or feeling a bit down, think of the last time something wonderful happened, or the excitement you felt on your first day of work. Soak in that feeling for a few minutes and then, as they say, pass it (the energy) on!

Recognizing Our Core Values In Action!

A resident called to recognize Esta Knipper, Billing & Collection Technician. "I called Utilities about 10 days ago regarding a spike in my irrigation bill. I didn't get the name of the employee who answered. She was very attentive to my concern, promised to look into the matter and called me back later to tell me the problem had been solved and my bill would be adjusted. I just want to get a message to the employee to let her know how much I appreciate the time and attention she gave on my behalf. She's one more reason why The Villages is such a great place to live."

The Public Safety department was recognized and thanked for saving a resident's life. "I would like to thank everyone at The Villages Fire Department for responding to my 911 call. They saved my life and for that I am eternally grateful. I have stage 4 COPD and they worked in unison with oxygen an IVs. I am currently doing much better. Again my wife and I both thank you. God bless your team."

Utilities Customer Service was recognized for their outstanding service. "Thank you for your continued excellent attention and service during this different, difficult and most challenging year! Be well and be safe in the new year 2021. With sincere gratitude and blessings!"

Recreation & Parks News

St. Catherine Recreation Area

On Thursday, January 14th, Recreation & Parks along with local residents opened the St. Catherine Recreation Area. This marks the 100th pool managed by the department. St. Catherine also features shuffleboard courts, bocce, corn toss, as well as a picnic pavilion and pathway that leads to trails which run throughout the community. The neighborhood recreation area offers a picturesque waterfront view of a pond surrounded by oak and palm trees.

HAPPYORETUREMENT

With almost twenty years with Recreation & Parks, Bobby Pasqua has held various positions in Special Events, with his last as Recreation Supervisor-Special Events. Everyone he worked with and assisted will miss his cheerful personality and warm smile; he was definitely an asset for the department and the District. We wish Bobby and his wife the best during their retirement!

Each February, we celebrate American Heart Month by motivating Americans to adopt healthy lifestyles to prevent heart disease. Focusing on your heart health has never been more important. People with poor cardiovascular health are also at increased risk of severe illness from COVID-19. Research shows that we're more successful at meeting personal health goals when we join forces with others. When we take care of our hearts as part of our self-care, we set an example for those around us to do the same.

Heart disease is a leading cause of death in the United States, causing one in four deaths each year. But there's a lot you can do to live a heart-healthy life—and connecting with others can make your efforts even more successful.

How to start: Move more

Get at least 2½ hours of physical activity each week—that's just 30 minutes a day, 5 days a week. In addition, do muscle strengthening exercises at least 2 days a week. Can't carve out a lot of time in your day? Try 5, 10, or 15 minutes a few times a day. Some physical activity is better than none. Get creative! Invite a colleague to keep you on track. Text each other a reminder to go for a walk or take an online exercise class together. Grab your kids and do jumping jacks, shoot some hoops, or dance.

Eat healthy foods

A healthy diet that is low in sodium and saturated fat key to heart disease prevention.

♦ Eat vegetables, fruits, and whole grains

- ♦ Eat fish, poultry, beans, nuts, vegetable oils, and fat-free or low-fat dairy products
- ♦ Limit foods that are high in saturated fat and sodium
- Limit sugar and other sweeteners.

Get healthy, together! When you get fast food, ask for a salad instead of fries, and don't get the "deluxe" sandwich. Start your meal with a salad or appetizer of veggies so you'll have something healthy first. Studies suggest that we tend to eat like our friends and family. Your healthy choices may inspire those around you!

Aim for a healthy weight.

Being overweight is hard on your heart. It increases your risk of having heart disease, a stroke, high cholesterol, high blood pressure, and diabetes. Choosing heart-healthy foods and getting regular exercise will help you achieve and maintain a healthy weight. A study of one popular weight loss program showed that participants who were the most connected with others in the program's online community lost the most weight. Join an online weight loss program with a buddy, or sign "social support" agreements with three family members or friends

Quit smoking

The chemicals in tobacco smoke harm your heart and blood vessels in many ways. Quitting is hard, but many people have succeeded, and you can too. Set a quit date and let those close to you know about it. Ask your family and friends for support in your effort.

Tip: To keep your hands busy and be with others when you get urges, consider taking an online class for an activity like sewing, knitting, woodworking, art, or music.

Reduce stress and improve sleep

Stress can contribute to high blood pressure and other heart risks. Not getting enough sleep or regularly getting poor quality sleep increases the risk of having high blood pressure, heart disease, and other medical conditions. Aim for 7–8 hours of sleep a night. Practicing meditation, being more physically active, doing relaxation therapy, and talking with someone you trust can help you cope with stress and sleep better

Know your numbers

Meet your heart health goals by keeping track of how much you exercise, your blood pressure, your cholesterol numbers—all of which can impact your heart health—and tell your doctor how you're doing Keeping a log of your blood pressure, weight goals, physical activity, and if you have diabetes, your blood sugars, will help you stay on a heart-healthy track. Visit your physician yearly, even when you are young and healthy.

Taking care of your heart is taking care of yourself.

This February, choose to have a healthy heart!

Improving Ventilation in Your Home

Staying home with only members of your household is the best way to keep COVID-19 particles out of your home. However, if a visitor needs to be in your home, improving ventilation (air flow) can help prevent virus particles from accumulating in the air. Good ventilation, along with other preventive actions, like staying 6 feet apart and wearing masks, can help prevent you from getting and spreading COVID-19.

Information provided by www.cdc.gov.

Filter the air in your home.

If your home has a central heating, ventilation and air conditioning system (HVAC, a system with air ducts that go throughout the home) that has a filter, do the following to help trap virus particles:

- In homes where the HVAC fan operation can be controlled by a thermostat, set the fan to the "on" position instead of "auto" when you have visitors. This allows the fan to run continuously, even if heating or air conditioning is not on.
- Use pleated filters. They are more efficient that ordinary furnace filters and can be found in hardware stores. They should be installed initially with the HVAC system by a professional, if possible. If that is not possible, carefully follow the manufacturer's instructions to replace the filter yourself.
- Make sure the filter fits property in the unit.
- Change your filter every three months or according to the manufacturer's instructions.
- Ideally, have the ventilation system inspected and adjusted by a professional every year to make sure it is operating efficiently.

Use fans to improve air flow.

- Place a fan as close as possible to an open window blowing outside. This helps get rid of virus particles in your home by blowing air outside. Even without an open window, fans can improve air flow.
- Point fans away from people. Pointing fans toward people can possibly cause contaminated air to flow directly at them.
- Use ceiling fans to improve air flow in the home whether or not windows are open.

Bring in as much fresh air into your home as possible.

Bringing fresh outdoor air into your home helps keep virus particles from accumulating inside.

- If it's safe to do so, open doors and windows as much as you can to bring in fresh, outdoor air. While it's better to open them wide, even having a window cracked open slightly can help.
- If you can, open multiple doors and windows to allow more fresh air to move inside.
- Do not open windows and doors if doing so is unsafe for you or others (for example, presence of young children and pets, risk of falling, triggering asthma symptoms, high levels of outdoor pollution).
- If opening windows or doors is unsafe, consider other approaches for reducing virus particles in the air, such as using air filtration and bathroom and stove exhaust fans.

Turn on the exhaust fan in your bathroom and kitchen.

Exhaust fans above your stovetop and in your bathroom that vent outdoors can help move air outside. Although some stove exhaust fans don't send the air to the outside, they can still improve air flow and keep virus particles from being concentrated in one place.

- Keep the exhaust fan turned on over your stovetop and in your bathroom if you have visitors in your home.
- Keep the exhaust fans turned on for an hour after your visitors leave to help remove virus particles that might be in the air.

Limit the number of visitors in your home and the time spent inside.

The more people inside your home, and the longer they stay, the more virus particles can accumulate.

- Limit the number of visitors in your home.
- Try to gather in larger rooms or areas where you can stay at least 6 feet apart.
- Be sure that everyone wears a mask while visitors are in your home. This includes the visitors as well as the people who live in your home.
- Keep visits as short as possible.
- Follow additional recommendations for hosting events, located at www.cdc.gov.
