UPDATE ON IRS NOTICE

Y
es, there is a different look to the Recreation News this week. Normally the OUR PLACE column is on the second page of the insert. However, due to the very important nature of this week’s subject matter, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Notices, I thought it best to place this information on the front page.

For those of you who know me or read my columns, please bear with me for a couple of paragraphs as I repeat some of what I have previously shared.

My employment for the last 28 years has been in the public sector, working for both a city and a county. While there are some differences in the terminology, the vast majority of what I do as District Manager for the Community Development Districts mirrors my city and county management experience.

Since becoming District Manager, I have often commented that the Districts are the best form of government I have experienced because they are local units of “special-purpose” government. The Districts’ responsibilities are clearly defined by Florida law. Unlike a city or county whose activities range from A-Animal Control to Z-Zoning and everything in between, the Village Center and Sumter Landing Community Development Districts and the 10 numbered Districts have clear delineated responsibilities.

When a special-purpose government focuses on the issues within its framework, the work is accomplished more expeditiously, efficiently, and generally more economically.

Districts cannot do whatever they want without restrictions. As units of special-purpose “local government,” the Districts must operate as any local government when it comes to public meetings, public records, purchasing human resources, budgeting, financial controls, audits, and the list goes on because we must follow state statutes in our everyday activities, including contracts, bond indentures, purchase agreements and the city and county legislation which grants us our government powers.

While staff continually strives to communicate with residents about your local government, the Community Development Districts, many folks do not understand our form of government. You may have moved here from a city like Cleveland, a township, a county or a parish and do not know what a District is, how it operates, or why it exists.

During the last Amenity Authority Committee (AAC) meeting, one of its members, Gary Moyer, brought up an important point. He commented that sometimes we forget, that as a result of the community’s growth, the majority of residents were not here when the first amenities sale took place, and do not know why the Village Center Community Development District (VCCDD) bought recreational amenities from the Developer in the first place.

The residents in attendance at the AAC meeting appreciated the historical overview. I believe it would be beneficial to provide the information to you in advance of my comments about the IRS issue that is the topic of so many resident discussions and concerns.

When this community first began to grow, the Developer had three alternatives regarding the future of recreational amenities in The Villages.

The first alternative was for the Developer to continue to own the recreational amenity, collect the amenity fees that are a contractual obligation, and to operate and maintain the services, recreation centers and activities.

The second alternative was for the Developer to sell those recreational amenities to other businesses. This type of sale was quite popular in the mid-90’s, when selling golf courses and amenities was very lucrative and happened on a regular basis.

And the third alternative was to transfer the assets to a government that was closest to the people of The Villages. Selling to a government entity ensured that the community would be operated in perpetuity for the benefit of the residents.

It was to The Villages Developer’s credit that the Developer had the same concern and believed the best vehicle available for providing these recreational amenities was to sell the amenities to the VCCDD. This decision was in the best interest of the residents of The Villages, because this alternative made sure the lifestyle provided to each resident continues in the future, which is the “special-purpose” of the local District government.

It is important to note that the amount of monthly amenity fees would not change under any of these scenarios, as they are contractual obligations. The only change is that the facilities went from private ownership to public ownership, which allows residents to participate in decisions affecting the lifestyle that all residents enjoy.

Now that the history of the VCCDD has been explained, we can move onto the important issue at hand: the receipt of three “5701” forms from the IRS. The Forms are a “Notice of Proposed Issue.” The forms state that based on their (IRS) information, they believe interest on the proposed issue should be included in gross income. The form goes on to say, “However, if you have additional information that would alter or reverse this proposal, or are in disagreement with the facts, please furnish this information.”

The Daily Sun accurately reported the IRS Review back in January. More recently, two opinion columns appeared in a regional newspaper that created anxiety among some of our residents. When residents read what was written in those opinion columns, they mistakenly believed the IRS had already concluded their audit, made their findings and, as a result, the residents would be liable for payments of substantial dollars.

As I previously stated, that is NOT the case. The Form 5701 is a notice to the District that the IRS is looking at certain issues and will work with us, the VCCDD, over a period of time for us to answer those issues.

It should be noted that a similar inquiry by the IRS in 2003 resulted in “no change” to the District’s operation. Of course, we cannot predict how this examination will end.

However, for the press to draw hypothetical conclusions from the three 5701 forms is simply not appropriate. Keep in mind, the VCCDD is one of about 600 CDD’s in the State of Florida. The issues raised in these 5701 forms would apply to the vast majority of those 600 districts as they issue bonds, just like the VCCDD issues bonds. As part of the bond process, each one of those bond issues is reviewed by bond counsel – attorneys who are schooled in the law as it relates to tax exempt bonds.

The VCCDD used a bond counsel firm for the issuance of our bonds. Other CDD’s...
